

VIKE™ Tradition Aviary System

System In Use Since 1992

VIKE™ Tradition system has been used in Switzerland since 1992.

- Low system allows birds to reach upper levels easily from the bottom tier
- Lower house bird density is ideal for specialty eggs
- The system is designed for the Valego nest go be placed across the aisle, providing a separate area for laying
- Base design is two tiers, more tiers can be stacked to fit varying configurations and house requirements
- Tradition is an open system with a row of nests down the middle or sides of the house
- Birds like the tree style system
